

Jay has been involved in athletics his entire life: as a player, coach, teacher, and athletic administrator at the high school, district, and collegiate levels. Nearly all school districts have security measures in place during the school days. However, similar risk management policies are too often overlooked or ignored for evening events. Safe Sport Zone has developed plans to ensure safer environments for activities. The exercises include spectator issues, identifying all fans, athletic concerns, facilities maintenance, evacuation procedures, and applications for almost any emergency. For interscholastic athletics to survive, kids' games must be enjoyable, entertaining, safe, and educationally driven. Safe Sport Zone is committed to these principles.